

the cruising insider™

YOUR GUIDE TO ALL THINGS CRUISING

CRUISEGUIDE™

2011

The information you need to
Cruise With Confidence in 2011

Packed with:

Cruise tips - What to expect in 2011 - Port Information
Cruise Line Information
Ways to save big on your next Cruise Vacation

Plus:

Our Original Cruise Packing List – Exclusive access to our Computer Wallpapers and more!

Kim and Johnnie Rhodes

Contents

Foreword.....	3
Why Go on a Cruise Vacation?.....	5
Cruise News for 2011.....	7
Helpful Cruise Tips.....	11
Ways to save big on your next Cruise Vacation.....	16
Port Information.....	22
Western Caribbean Ports.....	23
Eastern Caribbean Ports.....	35
Alaskan Ports.....	38
Cruise Line Directory.....	40
Cruise Packing List.....	42
Conclusion.....	46

Your free Wallpapers are available at:
\(buy full copy for download\)

Disclaimer

Through this e-book, we hope to bring you valuable and entertaining cruise vacation information. However, we make no guarantee, expressed or implied, about the currency and/or accuracy of any and all information contained in this e-book. Therefore, any and all liability incurred by the authors is limited to the purchase price of this e-book only.

Foreword

Cruising is a vacation option like no other. Cruising allows you see so many places around the world, knowing that all of your needs and wants are covered – such as quality lodging, top notch meals, and world-class entertainment every night. Once you're aboard, you've got all this and more, and you never have to worry about getting from destination to destination. And the kicker is, even though cruising offers a world-class vacation, if you plan it right, you can have all this for as low as $50 a day!

When we were considering our first cruise, we felt a lot like a fish out of water. We had talked to a few people over the years who had taken cruise vacations, but, because cruising is so different from any other vacation, we weren't sure where to start. We knew that a cruise vacation would be an amazing experience, if we could get the information we needed to prepare as necessary.

So we researched everything we could find. We found lots of information scattered here and there around the internet, but weren't satisfied with what we found from a new cruiser's perspective. Still, once we had a general idea of what was available, we prepared as much as we could, and left the rest to chance.

That first cruise vacation was an amazing one. We were alone together – for a change – as a couple (we almost always bring our kids now), and we experienced our first international vacation together. We took a few first-timer 'bumps' and learned from them, but for the most part, it was the trip of a lifetime.

Returning home, we shared the story of that voyage with our non-cruising family and friends. It wasn't long before many of them were planning their first cruise, and, of course, they had lots of questions to ask. They too felt as though they were in a vacuum of information, looking for whatever tips they could find.

That's when we began to get the idea of forming a website about cruising. One that, for a change, would be built specifically around the idea of providing relevant information for the new cruiser, in a simple to follow format. The result was a simple personal web page, known as Kim's Cruise Tips (named after my wife). As the site grew in popularity, we felt the need to shift toward a more full-bodied, commercial website, and along came the name change to The Cruising Insider.

We have thoroughly enjoyed the feedback our site has gotten from the cruising community, and appreciate the many questions we get regularly from cruisers. The website has truly now taken on a life of its own. This CruiseGuide is designed to cover many of the points that our website offers, plus what's offered to our newsletter subscribers, and then goes beyond all that. As a matter of fact, the information we reveal here includes money-saving tips that may save you many dozens of times the cost of this CruiseGuide!

We hope you find the 2011 CruiseGuide both entertaining and informative, and would appreciate any comments or suggestions you could offer.

Why go on a Cruise Vacation?

Cruising is a unique experience among vacation options. Unlike flying or driving to a vacation destination, on a cruise getting there is half the fun! Once you get to the cruise terminal and board your ship, the work for you is over...you don't have to worry about...

To see the full CruiseGuide,

Buy your instant copy today!

Only $9

Could save you thousands!

Instant Download!